Education

Stanford University 2015 - Present

I am currently pursuing certificate in Machine Learning. I plan on using this knowledge for data analysis and building smarter applications. I will finish the course summer of 2016.

Orange Coast College 2007 - 2009

I studied business administration and behavioral psychology that I use to create compelling user experiences and better business services.

Work

Freelance 2013 - Present

I design and develop web experiences for clients, while managing and organizing all aspects of the web development process.

Hennes & Mauritz (H&M) 2009 -2011

As a department responsible I was responsible for creating effortless shopping experiences for customers, appealing visual displays to draw interest to floor sets and apparel pairings encourage larger purchases.

Urban Outfitters 2007 - 2009

As a sales associate, I was responsible for contributing to all portions of the customers experience in the store. I helped with displays, shipment processing, and inventory while maintaining strong sales.
